TABLE OF CONTENTS

FACULTY . . . 8

No hardship was too great or problem too insignificant to warrant the sincere attention of even the busiest of teachers.

CLASSES . . . 18

From the perserverance in classes to the fulcrum of co-curricular activities, students were the pulse of David Anderson High School.

ATHLETICS . . . 42
A traditional dedication has always been to encourage interscholastic sportsmanship in desire as well as skill.

ACTIVITIES . . . 60
Proud of American ideals and outstanding citizenship, the student body participated in activities which developed pride in the school, community and themselves.

ADVERTISERS . . . 84
Neighboring merchants, interested in school life and progress, contributed generously to the production of the Olympian.

Supervision--

Oliver H. Payne's fourth year as chief administrator of the Lisbon Public School System has been one filled with new and challenging problems in addition to the routine duties of conducting the school's business. He has skillfully administered the school program and assisted the Board of Education in establishing policies.

The Lisbon Board of Education experienced a change of personnel this year as three new members took their places among the ranks of the experienced. With these dedicated people rests the responsibility of directing the educational welfare of the youth of Lisbon.

Mr. Oliver H. Payne
Superintendent

Board of Education Seated: Mrs. Marian Ramsey, Forrest Lowry, and Mrs. Ruth James. Standing: Dr. W. A. Bacon,

the Key to Education

Mr. George M. Nace
Principal

Mr. George M. Nace has served as principal of David Anderson High School since 1948. He has at all times been responsible for directing the faculty and developing the level of instruction. The many other duties included preparing schedules, keeping school business running smoothly, and assisting his students by giving helpful advice and constructive criticism. The students of D. A. H. S. owe Mr. Nace a debt of gratitude for his dedicated service.

Teachers. . .Our

Teacher (-er), n. One who teaches, or instructs; especially, one whose occupation is to instruct; an instructor.

Our teachers have been the guiding lights in our school year. Our instructors have not only ripened our knowledge, but they have also discovered our hidden talents and made courses spark with interest.

The English Department which consisted of Miss Moore, Mrs. Bieshelt, Miss Carihfield, Miss Cameron and Mr. Morgan, not only offered regular English courses, but also provided a speech course and a special course in college preparatory English.

The Language Department made possible French I, II, III, and IV, taught by Mrs. Sexton, and Latin, taught by Miss Cameron.

American History and World History were instructed by Mr. Bucher and Miss Bennett. The social studies courses were instructed by Mr. Morgan.

An annual luncheon is held for the purpose of acquainting the new teaching staff with the old.

Assuming her secretarial duties at the semester, Mrs. Smith adjusted well to the rigors of school business and was found to be a dependable friend to confused students.

Miss Crihfield confides her anxieties as a new teacher to a sympathetic Miss McCullough.

Daily problems as well as dramatic decisions are discussed openly in the friendly atmosphere of the teachers' room during a welcome recess at noon hour.

Our Inspiration to Succeed

The Science departments, made up of Mr. Riser, Mr. Ceremuga, and Miss McCullough, presented courses in general science, earth science, biology, chemistry and physics.

The business courses were taught by Mrs. Robb and Mr. Broscoe.

Courses in mathematics were instructed by Miss Bennett, Miss McCullough and Mr. Keyser.

Future Homemakers learned home economics from Mrs. Strader and Mrs. Kennedy.

Miss Armstrong and Mr. Groves encouraged sportsmanship in physical education classes, and Mr. Bucher instructed health classes.

Mrs. Blocksom taught art, and courses in industrial arts were taught by Mr. Vaglia.

The Music Department was headed by Mr. Bortz, who was both the chorus and the band director.

Classes in special education were made possible this year by Mr. Ashton.

Students in need of guidance were aided by Mr. Pike, the school's guidance counselor, and Mr. Monda offered his services as school psychologist.

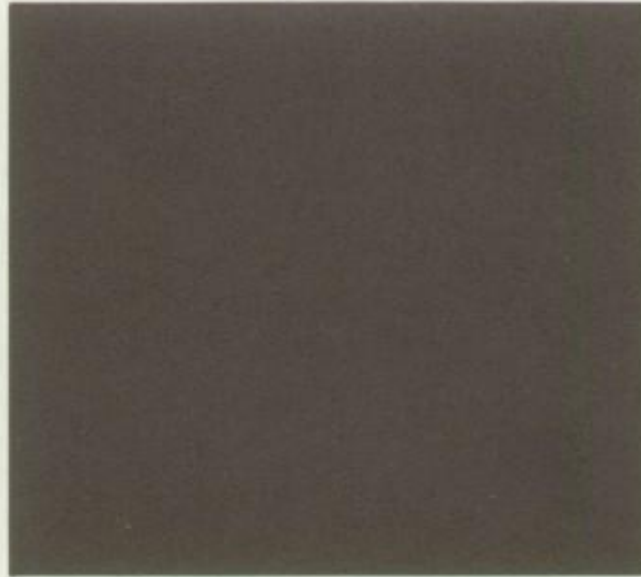

Miss Moore capably filled the position as school librarian.

We, the students of David Anderson High School, extend our appreciation to our teachers for their dedicated service and aid throughout this year.

The Challenge to Fulfill

The Class of 1969 finally entered David Anderson High School after waiting for eight long years. The large class of freshmen were very active in extra-curricular activities. As the freshmen boys participated in the school athletics, the girls enthusiastically joined in the noon intramurals. The freshmen also took part in many other school activities which included band, Chorus, Students' Voice, and Pep Club.

When the first year at D. A. H. S. had ended, the freshmen class looked back on a successful year, and the Class of 1969 looked forward to becoming sophomores.

Sophomores

The Class of 1968 was quite active this year. The sophomores began the year by entertaining the freshmen at the annual Freshman-Sophomore Party.

The sophomore class was well represented in organizations such as Olympian, Latin Club, Students' Voice, and Business Club. The sophomore girls were active in Leaders Club, Future Nurses Club, Pep Club, reserve cheerleading and intramurals. The boys participated in Key Club, football, basketball, and intramurals.

Michael Rutecki, Secretary; Louise Gallo, Treasurer; John Richardson, Vice President; and Charles Pike, President; presided over the sophomore class.

The Experience to Achieve

The junior class officers for this year were Linda Kodrich, Secretary; Jennifer Mason, President; Mary Coontz, Vice President; and Albert Dixon, Treasurer. This group worked diligently throughout the year to help the class earn money for the Prom.

This year's junior class worked eagerly at its many projects to prepare for the biggest event of the year — the Junior-Senior Prom. The juniors sold "Blue Devil" pens, sponsored record hops, and managed the concession stands at football and basketball games.

In March a few outstanding members were tapped for the National Honor Society, and in the spring, students took the annual trip to Gettysburg with the American History class.

The class was represented on the football and basketball teams, the Homecoming Court, cheerleading and other activities.

The final day of classes for the 1966 year brought the end of an experience and the beginning of results. As each annual event became the last, and every day brought classmates closer to the end, the seniors experienced a joy of achievement and a twinge of regret.

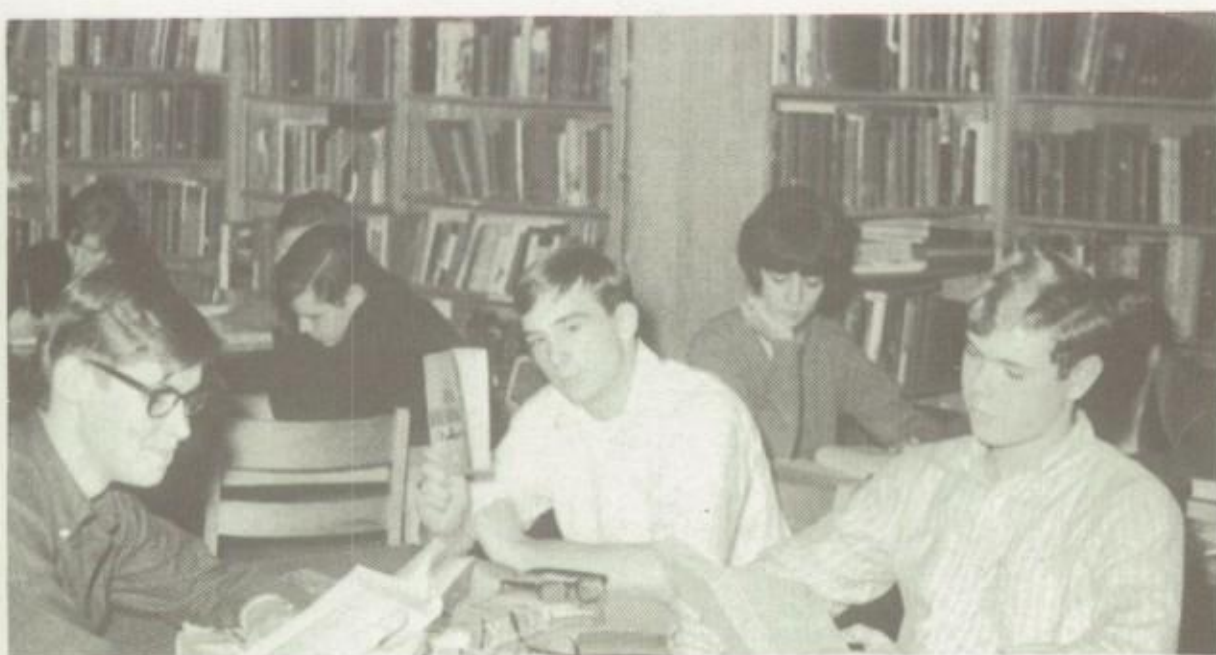

Several football and basketball lettermen hailed from the senior class, and the girls carried a tremendous share of athletic support in Leaders' Club and intramurals. Years of experience provided welcome additions to band and chorus, and school spirit was evident in the senior cheerleading staff. The National Honor Society rewarded the class of 1966 academically. Senior dramatic prowess has shown through in the presentation of the class play.

Senior boys take a break from their usual studies and spend a period in the library.

A disturbance at the far end of the gym has attracted the attention of some senior boys as they finish lunch and wait for the bell.

"What are you talking about? You can't have a lady's choice to 'Hang On Sloopy'!" James Campanelli is obviously disturbed by the prospect, as Judith Kenmuir contemplates the suggestion by explaining that it is the only record there.

If school spirit could win athletic contests, Lisbon would be the champ. This is exemplified on the main floor as senior lockers display encouragement for the first home game.

Crashing shoulder pads, a smell of pigskin ...the pulsing throb of the gridiron

The hot and humid evening of September 10, 1965, marked the season's debut of the 1965 Blue Devil football squad under the direction of the new head coach, George Ceremuga.

While from many aspects the season proved disappointing to the coaching staff and the team, this relatively inexperienced squad, composed primarily of Sophomores and Juniors, did gain valuable experience which should prove beneficial in the future. School spirit ran high, and no matter what the scores implied, D.A.H.S. was proud of the team and coaches.

Amid the Excitement of Football Season - a Touch of Pageantry

A chilly evening and a moonlit sky became the setting for the 1965 Homecoming festivities held during the half-time of the Lisbon-East Palestine football game. As the band played Moon River, the 1965 Homecoming Queen, Beverly Webber, was crowned by the retiring queen, Patricia Snowberger.

Beverly's activities included Leaders Club, Y-Teens, Future Nurses Club, Student Council, Latin Club, and the Olympian staff. Beverly was also the president of Pep Club and head varsity cheerleader.

A Screaming Whistle, the Maddening Roar of the Crowd, the Pulsing Excitement of a Narrow Margin

Campaigning under returning Head Coach Gary Pike, the Blue Devils achieved an impressive ten wins over eight losses for the 1965-66 season, and the seven-seven Tri-County record rated a third place in the league.

The Blue and White floored an excellent team this year — full of spirit and ability — and re-affirmed with each game the encouraging potential for things to come.

Adding Beauty to Excitement

The Lisbon-Leetonia basketball game set the stage for the 1966 Basketball Homecoming.

Four senior girls were nominated by the student body. The nominees were Diane Lederle, Linda Hempstead, Patty Bosel, and Cynthia Serago. The members of the basketball squad chose Patty Bosel as the 1966 Basketball Homecoming Queen. Patty was crowned by Edward Korode after the game at a dance held in her honor.

Cheerleaders at the Helm of School Spirit . . . Encouraging in Defeat, Triumphant in Victory

Reserve cheerleaders were Bobbie Brinker, Christine Bucher, Janice Nicholson, Dawn Richardson, head cheerleader.

Freshmen cheerleaders were Margaret Ieropoli, Stephanie Chengelis, and Kimberly Brinker.

Scorekeeper Deborah Pilmer enjoys a quick bite of a banana during an intramural game as the timekeepers Patricia Garick and Deborah Hill pause to watch.

Marilyn Baker, skillful and composed, demonstrates foul shooting while Judith Kenmuir, shy and inquisitive, develops her own technique.

Leaders Club

Since 1938, Leaders Club has taught and stressed leadership and good sportsmanship to an elective group of sophomore, junior, and senior girls. The sophomores, chosen in September, were selected according to basic athletic ability.

On Wednesday nights, the members of Leaders Club enjoyed an active and challenging game of either speedball, basketball or volleyball under the direction of Miss Alice Armstrong.

The activities of the club also included old Leaders Night and refereeing intramural games. Letters and numerals were awarded to girls for participating in horseback riding, walking, or riding bicycles. Club letters were purchased by the Leaders Club.

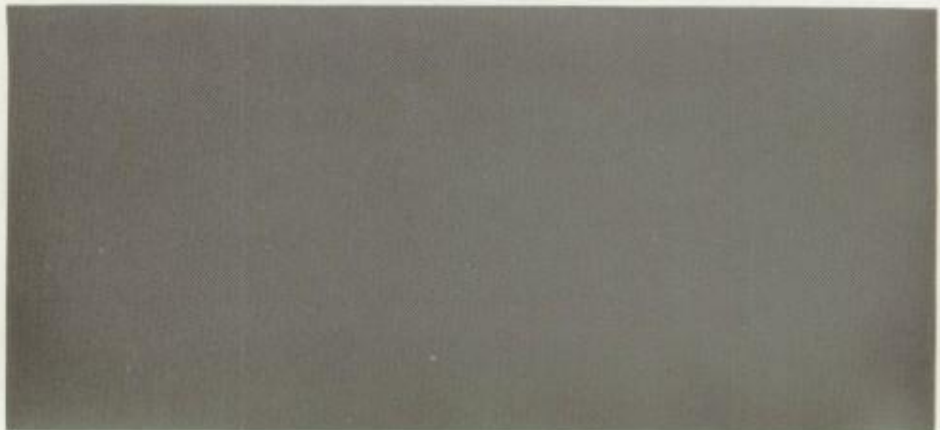

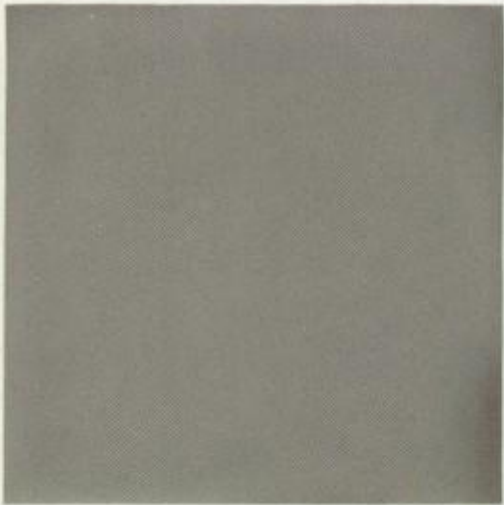

Honored students who met the requirements of Leaders Club have set an example of good sportsmanship for the entire school.

ACTIVITIES

1965 royalty, Lesley Jones and Donald Rose, retiring royalty, Nancy Ramsey and William Manning, and crownbearers Kendra McPherson and Tim Steitz, stop for a moment to let photographers capture the beauty and excitement of the coronation.

An Evening of Fantasy in the Charm of Childhood ...a Trip Through Toyland

Highlighting the spring of 1965, was the memorable Junior-Senior Prom. The theme, "Babes In Toyland," was portrayed lavishly in a flamboyant array of candy cotton, toy soldiers, and teddy bears, amid the brilliancy of glittering carousels and luminescent backdrops.

Queen Lesley Jones and King Donald Rose reigned over an enchanted land of fantasy that literally radiated with the imaginative warmth of childhood.

Amid the shadows of a toy shop closed up for the night, and beneath the muted brilliancy of a purple-tiered ceiling, was created a kingdom of make-believe doll houses, peppermint sticks, and caliopes.

Gone is the magic instilled within each prom-goer as all that remained of this fabulous evening away from the world are the dirty flats against the wall, an iron scaffolding that never could stand still, a few balloons that weren't needed and a crumpled streamer of orchid crepe paper now decaying in the dust.

It was truly a prom to remember.

Despite the apparent close quarters, Prom goers seem to be enjoying themselves amid the cluster of couples just preceding the coronation.

Y-Teens Club

The Y-Teens look on as Santa Claus distributes presents to the underprivileged children who are entertained by the club every Christmas. The party is enjoyed by both club members and guests.

The Y-Teen Club of David Anderson High School was composed of girls who were concerned with aiding others. This large club held its meetings in the study hall on the second and fourth Mondays of the month.

The meetings were aimed to help members in everyday living. Meetings ranged from a "Dear Abby" program to the solemn candlelight ceremony held to initiate new members. Other annual events included a picnic at Willow Grove Park, the Sadie Hawkins Dance in November, and the speedball game with the Key Club.

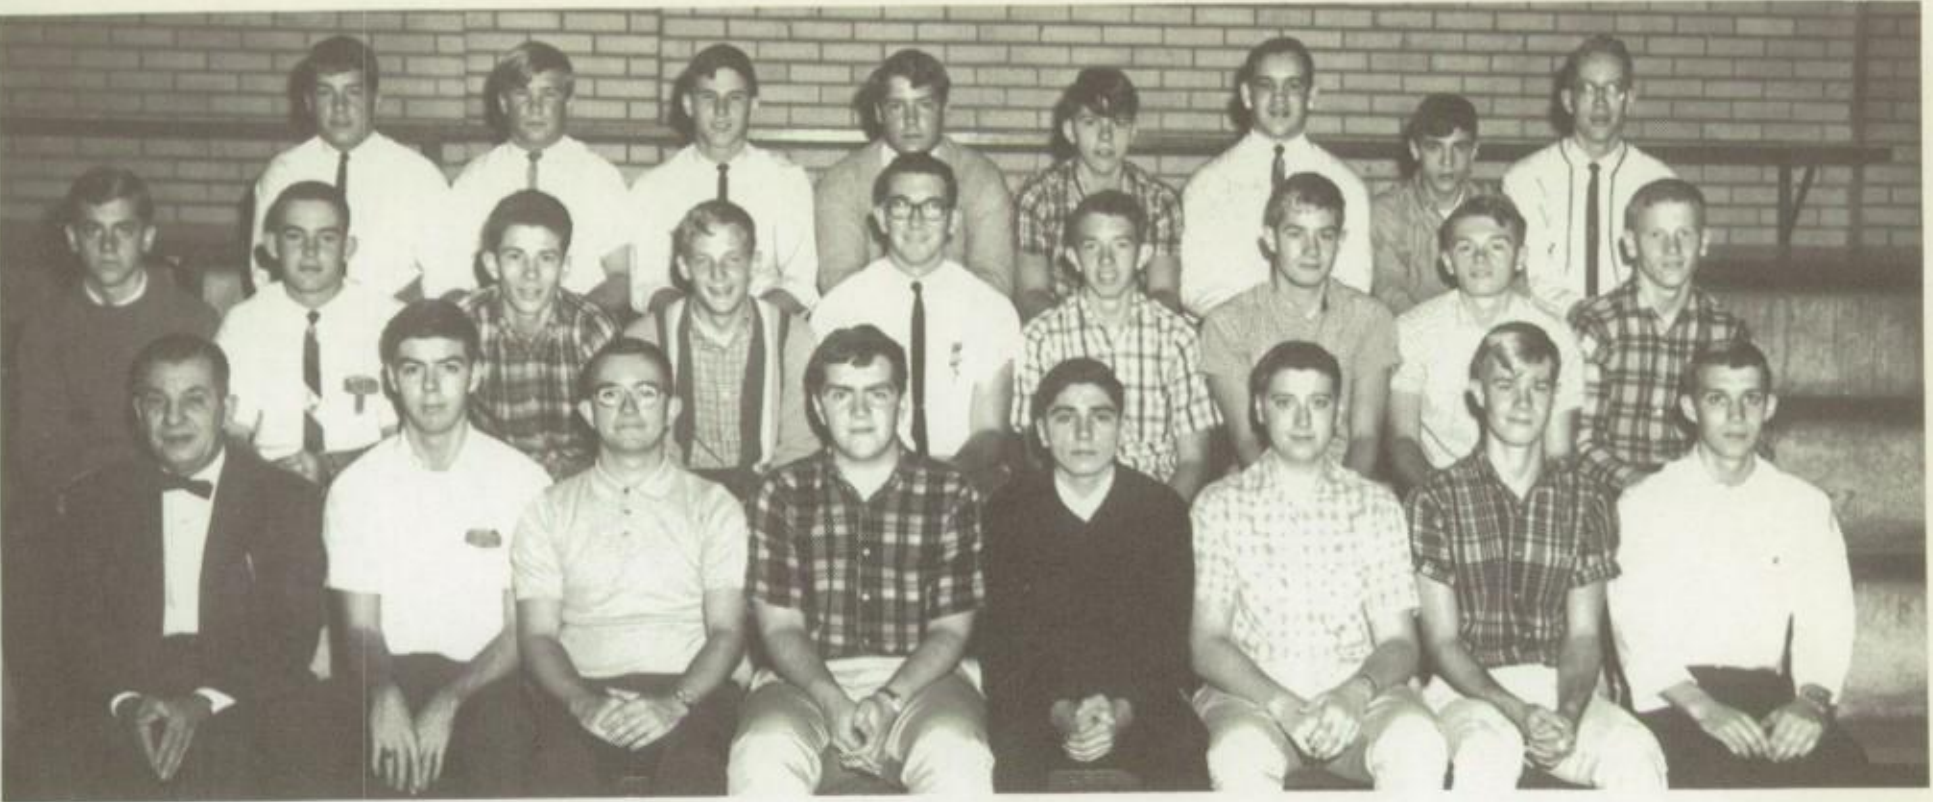

This year the club certainly attained its goal—to help all members grow in friendship and devotion.

Key Club

The Key Club, a Kiwanis sponsored organization meeting every Wednesday at noon in Room 202, had many projects. This year's activities included a car wash, a social dance, sanding classroom desks, cleaning the trophy cases, and sweeping around the school. This club, sponsored by Mr. Cornell Monda, has greatly improved the school's appearance and spirit. Although the requirements for becoming a member have always been rigid, the rewards have been equally great.

Student Council

Cynthia Serago adjusts the new roster board for our basketball games. The board is one of the many projects of the Student Council.

The 1965-1966, Student Council, under the direction of the faculty advisor, Mrs. Kathryn Bieshelt, was composed of a representative and an alternate from each homeroom and school organization. The active governing body met every other Tuesday during the noon hour.

One of the more important projects undertaken by the Council this year was the purchase of the roster board placed in the gym during basketball season. Friday noon dances, an Academic Award Day, and a student-teacher program in the elementary grades were a few of the other projects sponsored by the group.

Business Club

A successful addition to co-curricular activities, The Business Club encouraged young minds in the world of finance and office procedures. Sponsored by Mrs. Robb, the organization enjoyed several pertinent programs during the year and completed worthwhile projects as they learned business skills.

Included in such projects were the repair of used toys for Welfare distribution and raising money by sponsoring a record hop.

Girls interested in a career in business, gain knowledge of filing, recording, and pleasant office manners through the Business Club.

Pep Club

This year's Pep Club was busier and more active than ever before. The Club had more than one-hundred members who worked hard in taking on the tasks which were necessary in creating school spirit. This year, members continued painting store windows the night before each football game—a unique practice throughout the Tri-County. Club members painted signs, both large and small, which were placed in the gym and classrooms. The Pep Club also sponsored dances which were held after home football and basketball games. Pep Club members also aided the cheerleaders by boosting the spirit of classmates and players at the pep rallies and games.

Nearly every Thursday evening during Football season, Pep Club members paint cheers and sayings on downtown store windows to boost school spirit.

Marcia Hirshman and Carol Swartz earned money for Art Club by selling candy at the annual Art Show.

During an Art Club dinner, Mrs. Sexton discussed European art with Lesley Jones.

Art Club

The second and fourth Thursday evenings of each month were spent at the high school by the Art Club members, under the supervision of Mrs. Blocksom. Numerous banquets which were held throughout the year, will never be forgotten.

The various activities included a Mothers' Night, a pizza party, films, and speakers. The conclusion of the year's activities was the annual Art Show in May which displayed the best work of the students.

Future Homemakers Club

Under the capable guidance of Mrs. Strader, future homemakers discovered new and domestic skills in sewing, cooking and housekeeping. The members had candid discussions and modern facilities to analyze the problems and questions of becoming successful homemakers. Also included in the projects was the sale of cookbooks.

The club provided ample opportunities to learn and improve the codes of basic homemaking. The Future Homemakers proved that education and domestic skills were a twofold program in David Anderson High School.

Nurses Club

Future Nurses Club was organized in 1963. The purpose of the group has been to acquaint the members with the opportunities offered by a medical career.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Virginia Kessler, the club met on the first Monday of every month. Speakers from various fields of medicine told of the more interesting aspects of the professions. Guest speakers included both a dental hygienist and a psychologist. Another club activity was folding bandages for the American Cancer Society.

The Future Nurses Club has proved to be a worthwhile organization for the school. Club members have contributed to all aspects of the high school program.

French Club

During the year, Le Cercle Francaise held its meetings twice a month. The membership was composed of second, third, and fourth year French students maintaining a "C" semester average.

The club presented a two part European Tour program to the members' parents. A French Christmas Caroling Party and initiations were also included in the club's activities. The Spring banquet, with a native setting and typical French food, helped broaden the learning of the French language and customs.

Latin Club

The Latin Club, formed in 1942, was one of David Anderson High School's oldest clubs. This organization was composed of students who have studied Latin and maintained a "C" average at the end of the first semester.

The primary activity of the club was the Roman Banquet. Members, dressed as characters from Roman history, dined in the ancient fashion and enjoyed the sports of Caesar and Mark Antony. The club also sold stationery to earn money for the banquet.

After the assembly, the new National Honor Society members are congratulated by the speaker and Mr. Payne.

The National Honor Society is an honorary organization made up of members from the upper third of the senior and junior classes. Fifteen per cent of the senior and five per cent of the juniors are eligible for selection. The honor students are chosen by the faculty, each candidate requiring a majority of votes for selection. Four attributes considered in choosing members are character, service, leadership and scholarship.

This year, the National Honor Society assembly was held on February 22. The principal speaker was Ray A. Horn, Director of Federal Assistance from Columbus, Ohio. His talk was about the qualities of the honor students.

After the new members were "tapped", they were given pins and membership cards by the organization's advisor, Mr. Nace.

It is hoped that the selection to the National Honor Society will become a goal for underclassmen and that in striving to reach this goal, they will become better young people.

Students' Voice

Friday is news day at David Anderson, and the weekly newspaper is sold throughout the student body. Edited by Trudi Calvin, the Students' Voice provides pupils and faculty alike with news and happenings of the community and extra-curricular school activities. Sports, features, sentence sermons and hallway gossip comprise the additional material and have made the paper a successful addition to school life.

Publication of the Students' Voice requires many after-school typing sessions, and senior girls work industriously to meet the deadline.

Olympian

The 1965-66 yearbook staff, under the supervision of Mr. Harry Riser, worked diligently to publish this edition of the Olympian. The staff sponsored record hops and sold Olympian Cookbooks which contained the favorite recipes of both teachers and students.

Members of the staff who have shown outstanding ability and devotion to the yearbook were tapped for Journaleers. Journaleers must have at least a "C" average and be chosen by the advisor and the editors.

Miss Olympian

Student representatives selected Linda Hempstead as this year's Miss Olympian. This honor was bestowed upon Linda for showing outstanding leadership in various activities including National Honor Society, co-editor of the Olympian, the Student Council, Journaleers, French Club, Y-Teens, Leaders, and the Pep Club.

At the present, Linda's plans for this year are to complete high school and then continue on to college.

Mr. Olympian

At the same meeting of the school's representatives, David Logston was chosen the senior boy to receive the award of Mr. Olympian. During this year, David served as President of the senior class, participated on the varsity Basketball team, and belonged to the National Honor Society, the Student Council, Key Club, Latin Club, Senior Math Club, and Chorus. David plans to attend college after graduation.

The court of the third annual Sweetheart Dance was selected by the student body from the senior band members. Attendants were Colleen Baker escorted by John Marshall, Judith Kenmuir escorted by James Campanelli, and Diane Lederle escorted by Donald Rose. The band then selected Judith Kenmuir to reign as the 1966 Queen of Hearts.

A Queen of Hearts Amid Valentine Magic

The third annual Sweetheart Dance, sponsored by the Band Parents, was held on February 26, 1965. The gymnasium was decorated in "go-go" colors in shades of pink, and in the center of the floor was a "go-go" cage containing a stuffed white bunny.

The candidates for Sweetheart Queen were Judith Kenmuir, escorted by James Campanelli, Diane Lederle, escorted by Donald Rose, and Colleen Baker, escorted by John Marshall. The 1966 Sweetheart Queen, Judith Kenmuir, was selected from the three candidates by the members of the band. The highlight of the evening was the coronation of Queen Judith, after which the queen and her court led the next dance.

Moods of Expression in a Language Like No Other

The Concert Band composed of students interested in the field of music practiced daily in the band room. In addition to the presentation of numerous concerts, the members participated in individual and group contests. Music students interested in more modern dance music revived the Dance Band. The group practiced after school and entertained at numerous functions.

Mr. A. G. Bortz conducted both groups. Under his guidance and instruction, the music department has remained an educational and enjoyable phase of school life.

Sightreading a Tchaikowsky suite gives band members needed preparation for District Band Contest.

"Ten-n-n-shun!!" Heels together, muscles tensed and eyes straight ahead, the band is brought to attention before a weekly pre-game presentation.

Scholastic education would not be complete without the important training of the Marching Band. Accentuating discipline, precision, and musical abilities, the band functioned as a performing unit under the capable guidance of Mr. A. George Bortz.

The Blue Devil Band struck a spark of vitality in pep rallies to the tunes of school fight songs and enlivened the enthusiasm of the football games by accompanying cheers.

At the presentation of half-time shows, concerts, pageants and other civic entertainments, the band provided rousing and inspiring refrains for the listening pleasure of the student body and the citizens of Lisbon.

Blue Devil coaches view the visiting opponents and calculate the prospects of a victory.

Prom servers Susan Miller, Pat Richardson, and Beverly Webber fall into line just as the clock strikes nine and the evening gets under way.

These two brave souls assumed the role of disc-jockeys as the sophomores strove to provide an entertaining evening at the Freshman-Sophomore Party.

Along with digesting refreshments, these sophomore girls digest the latest gossip at the Freshman-Sophomore Party.

Activities Calendar

1965-1966

SEPTEMBER

- 8 school began for the 1965-66 season with a promise to be successful.
- 10 the Blue Devils were stacked against a powerful Carrollton team for the first football game of the season.
- 14 the yearly Y-Teen program was introduced with a Hobo Bash at Willow Grove Park.

OCTOBER

- 8 Patty Snowberger, the 1964 Homecoming Queen, crowned the 1965 Queen, Beverly Webber, during half-time ceremonies and also at the dance following.

NOVEMBER

- 13 the Sophomore-Freshman party was held with a theme of Thanksgiving.
- 19 Y-Teens sponsored the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance.
- 24 a spirit of serenity surrounded the student body as Rev. Moxley delivered the World Day of Prayer address for the Thanksgiving Assembly.

DECEMBER

- 10 the gym was packed to watch the Blue Devils begin another basketball season.
- 22 Christmas vacation provided a well needed mid-winter break for both students and faculty.

JANUARY

- 21 the first semester closed after days of tests and exams.

FEBRUARY

- 5 the varsity basketball team selected Patty Bosel to reign for the evening as 1966 Basketball Homecoming Queen.
- 22 at a midmorning assembly seven seniors and four juniors were tapped for National Honor Society.
- 26 Judith Kenmuir, selected by fellow bandmembers, reigned as Queen of Hearts for the band sponsored Sweetheart Dance.

MARCH

- 12 the Markees beat out the rhythm of the "Liverpool sound" and the U. S. "Rock'n Roll" for the Olympian sponsored record hop.

APRIL

- 2 members of the varsity, reserve, and freshman basketball teams were honored for their work throughout the 1965-1966 season at the Basketball Banquet.
- 29 in a Swiss castle turned youth hostile run by a strange family named Dracula, the "Boys and Ghouls Together" frolicked through this year's Senior Play.

MAY

- 6 the juniors entertained the seniors on a romantic spring evening in a wonderland of dreams at the Junior-Senior Prom.
- 13 after months of practice the band and chorus filled the gym with the strains of symphonies and marches at the Spring Concert.
- 21 early in the morning the class of 1967 left Lisbon for Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, to tour the museums and battlefields of the Civil War.
- 27 Senior Day — and the seniors appeared before the student body of D.A.H.S. for the last time to deliver a song, a will, a history, and a prophecy to the underclassmen and to honor outstanding members for their achievements during their four years at David Anderson High School.
- 29 in a solemn ceremony the class of 1966, was honored at a Baccalaureate service.

JUNE

- 3 the "end" and the "beginning" was achieved as the class of 1966, graduated from David Anderson High School.
- 7 school closed for the summer leaving each student with memories of a year completed and hopes for the year to come.

The 1966 Olympian Staff

has been rewarded greatly through the enriching experience obtained by producing this edition of your yearbook. Many thanks to the students who helped and teachers for their co-operation and much needed assistance.

Our goal will be obtained if in the future this book continues to revive old memories of the days at David Anderson.
